Index to Volume 16

No. 1, Spring 1989; No. 2, Summer 1989; No. 3, Autumn 1989; No. 4, Winter 1989-90

Authors

Album, Michael J., and Joffe, Susan. The Tax Treatment of Settlement Payments in Employment Discrimination Cases, No. 2, 105–110.

Belilos, Elliot, and Susser, Peter A. A "Kinder and Gentler" Approach to Work and Family Concerns?, No. 2, 97–103.

Brown, Barbara Berish. How To Terminate an Employee, No. 1, 27–31.

Brown, Barbara Berish, and Peters-Hamlin, Kristan. AT&T's Family-Care Union Agreement: A Harbinger of Change in Corporate America?, No. 3, 205–209.

Coil, James H., III. Washington Scene: The Final WARNing—Despite Some Uncertainty Regarding the Interpretation of Statutory Provisions, the Department of Labor's WARN Act Regulations Are Now in Effect, No. 2, 147–153.

Colby, Lee. Employees' Attitudes—How They Can Affect the Success of a Merger, No. 1, 65–73.

Colby, Lee. Laying the Groundwork for Successful Job Transitions, No. 4, 289–297.

Denis, Martin K. Alcoholics and Drug Abusers—How Many Second Chances Are They Owed?, No. 3, 211–218.

Denis, Martin K. The Attorney-Client Privilege: Using It or Losing It, No. 1, 17–25.

Feldman, Muriel N. A Pension Plan Checklist for Proper Operation of a Qualified Retirement Plan, No. 1, 33–42.

Finnerty, Terry P. Modifying Retirement Benefits: Problems under ERISA, No. 4, 283–287.

Fusco, Mary Ann Castronovo. Employment Relations Programs: At Polaroid, the Technology Readiness Program Provides the Company with Skilled, Literate Workers while Providing Workers with the Means for Advancement, No. 1, 89–92.

Fusco, Mary Ann Castronovo. Employment Relations Programs: Stride Rite's Employer-Sponsored Pioneer Program Combining Elder and Child Care May Be One Wave of the Future, No. 3, 259–261.

Gasser, Linda. Designing Internal Communications Strategies: A Critical Organizational Need, No. 4, 273–281.

Gore, Robert C. Developing the Right Pay Strategy, No. 2, 115–120.

Hartstein, Barry A. IRCA Violations—A Procedural Guide for Employers, No. 1, 43–50.

Howell, Gary W., and Levin, Lisa D. Benefits Update: The Department of Labor Issues Final Regulations on Loans to Plan Participants—Alerting Employers to the Need for Immediate Review of Their Plan Loan Programs, No. 4, 351–354.

Howell, Gary W., and Rosenbaum, Michael D. Benefits Update: The Potential for Significant Expenses and Liabilities Mandates that Employers Closely Examine Their Postretirement Medical Benefits Programs, No. 3, 253–257.

Howell, Gary W., and Spacapan, Edward, Jr. Benefits Update: The IRS Has Issued Section 89(k) Proposed Regulations on Welfare Plan Qualification Requirements, No. 2, 161–165.

Jett, David H., and Susser, Peter A. Washington Scene: In a Recently Published Notice, the EEOC Has Set Forth Its View of Sexual Harassment after Vinson, No. 1, 81–87.

Joffe, Susan, and Album, Michael J. The Tax Treatment of Settlement Payments in Employment Discrimination Cases, No. 2, 105–110.

Kress, Marjorie. Psychological Assessment Programs: Their Use in Employment Decisions, No. 1, 1–8.

Lary, Banning K. After the Theft: What Do You Do?, No. 2, 121–125.

Levin, Lisa D., and Howell, Gary W. Benefits Update: The Department of Labor Issues Final Regulations on Loans to Plan Participants—Alerting Employers to the Need for Immediate Review of Their Plan Loan Programs, No. 4, 351–354.

Little, Karen. The Baby Boom Generation: Confronting Reduced Opportunities, No. 1, 57–63.

Lord, Virginia M., and Louchheim, Frank P. Recruiting Strategies for the 1990's, No. 3, 227–234.

Louchheim, Frank P., and Lord, Virginia M. Recruiting Strategies for the 1990's, No. 3, 227–234.

McCulloch, Kenneth J. The New Wave of Employee Benefits Litigation, No. 4, 321–329.
McCulloch, Kenneth J. Severance Pay Plans: How To Use Them and Why To Have Them, No. 2, 127–133.
McGill, Linda D. Auditing Employment Practices: Some Guidelines for Employers, No. 1, 51–56.
McGill, Linda D. OSHA's Hazard Communication Standard: Guidelines for Compliance, No. 3, 181–187.
Miller, Richard E. The Design and Implementation of Employee Opinion Surveys, No. 4, 315–319.
Peters-Hamlin, Kristan, and Brown, Barbara Berish. AT&T's Family-Care Union Agreement: A Harbinger of Change in Corporate America?, No. 3, 205–209.
Portela, Gloria M., and Zaks, Rory K. Reductions in Force: A Practical Approach, No. 3, 219–225.
Reed, Ginger C. Employers' New Burden of Proof in Discrimination Cases, No. 2, 111–113.
Rosen, Corey. Employee Stock Ownership Plans: Myths, Magic, and Measures, No. 3, 189–195.
Rosenbaum, Michael D., and Howell, Gary W. Benefits Update: The Potential for Significant Expenses and Liabilities Mandates that Employers Closely Examine Their Postretirement Medical Benefits Programs, No. 3, 253–257.
Salodof, Jane. Business and Public Education: The Crisis Continues, No. 2, 135–139.
Sculnick, Michael W. Key Court Cases: Contrary to Its Past, Expansive Support for Affirmative Action Issues, the 1989 Court Issued Restricted and Refined Employment Discrimination Decisions in Four Major Cases, No. 3, 235–242.
Sculnick, Michael W. Key Court Cases: Excluding Women from Certain Jobs because of Reproductive or Fetal Hazard Must Be Justified by Objective, Scientific Evidence, No. 1, 75–79.
Sculnick, Michael W. Key Court Cases: Two Recent Drug-Testing Cases Portend New Limits on Employees' Privacy Expectations in Those Organizations that Deal with the Health and Safety of the Public, No. 2, 141–146.
Silbergeld, Arthur F. Key Court Cases: Although a Recent Supreme Court Decision Facilitates Drug Testing of Employees in the Transportation Industry, an NLRB Ruling May Be an Obstacle in Other Sectors, No. 4, 331–337.
Spacapan, Edward, Jr., and Howell, Gary W. Benefits Update: The IRS Has Issued Section 89(k) Proposed Regulations on Welfare Plan Qualification Requirements, No. 2, 161–165.
Spirig, John E. HRIS Topics: Human Resource Information Systems Can Help Employers Plan and Implement Flexible Benefit Programs, No. 3, 249–252.
Spirig, John E. HRIS Topics: Human Resources Information Systems Can Help Employers Manage the Vast Amounts of Information Needed to Meet EEO and Affirmative Action Requirements, No. 4, 347–350.
Spirig, John E. HRIS Topics: The HRIS Skills Inventory Provides an Inclusive, Computerized Means for Strategic Human Resources Planning, No. 2, 155–159.
Spirig, John E. Human Resource Information Systems: Helping To Meet Section 89 Requirements, No. 1, 9–16.
Stackel, Leslie. Employment Relations Programs: Encouraging Employee Involvement through Suggestion Systems Can Generate Big Payoffs in Worker Morale—and Dollars Saved, No. 2, 167–169.
Stackel, Leslie. Employment Relations Programs: A Groundbreaking New Childcare Program for Employees Holds Promise for Improving Good Will and Productivity, No. 4, 355–357.
Sudbury, Deborah A. Strategies for Negotiations and Settlement in Government Investigation, No. 4, 299–303.
Susser, Peter A. Washington Scene: Growing Concern for Workers' Repetitive Motion Injuries Has Made Their Prevention OSHA's Issue of the Nineties, No. 3, 243–248.
Susser, Peter A. Washington Scene: In Addition to Prohibiting Discrimination in Employment, the Pending Americans with Disabilities Act Will Prohibit Discrimination against the Disabled in Transportation, Public Accommodations, and Telecommunications, No. 4, 339–345.
Susser, Peter A., and Belilos, Elliot. A "Kinder and Gentler" Approach to Work and Family Concerns?, No. 2, 97–103.
Susser, Peter A., and Jett, David H. Washington Scene: In a Recently Published Notice, the EEOC Has Set Forth Its View of Sexual Harassment after Vinson, No. 1, 81–87.
Turk, Harry N. Questions—and Answers, No. 1, 93–95; No. 2, 171–174; No. 3, 263–265; No. 4, 359–362.
Uretsky, Mike. Simulated Reality—The Key to More Effective Training, No. 4, 305–314.
Zaks, Rory K., and Portela, Gloria M. Reductions in Force: A Practical Approach, No. 3, 305–314.
Zemke, Ron. Auditing Customer Service: Look Inside as Well as Out, No. 3, 197–203.

Benefits Update

The Department of Labor Issues Final Regulations on Loans to Plan Participants—Alerting Employers to the Need for Immediate Review of Their Plan Loan Programs, Gary W. Howell and Lisa D. Levin, No. 4, 351–354.
The IRS Has Issued Section 89(k) Proposed Regulations on Welfare Plan Qualification Requirements, Gary W. Howell and Edward Spacapan, Jr., No. 2, 161–165.

The Potential for Significant Expenses and Liabilities Mandates that Employers Closely Examine Their Postretirement Medical Benefits Programs, Gary W. Howell and Michael D. Rosenbaum, No. 3, 253–257.

Compliance with State and Federal Laws

Alcoholics and Drug Abusers—How Many Second Chances Are They Owed?, Marty Denis, No. 3, 211–218.

Human Resource Information Systems: Helping To Meet Section 89 Requirements, John E. Spirig, No. 1, 9–16.

IRCA Violations—A Procedural Guide for Employers, Barry A. Hartstein, No. 1, 43–50.

Modifying Retirement Benefits: Problems under ERISA, Terry P. Finnerty, No. 4, 283–287.

OSHA's Hazard Communication Standard: Guidelines for Compliance, Linda D. McGill, No. 3, 181–187.

A Pension Plan Checklist for Proper Operation of a Qualified Retirement Plan, Muriel N. Feldman, No. 1, 33–42.

Severance Pay Plans: How To Use Them and Why To Have Them, Kenneth J. McCulloch, No. 2, 127–133.

Employee Benefits Administration

AT&T's Family-Care Union Agreement: A Harbinger of Change in Corporate America?, Barbara Berish Brown and Kristan Peters-Hamlin, No. 3, 205–209.

Developing the Right Pay Strategy, Robert C. Gore, No. 2, 115–120.

Employee Stock Ownership Plans: Myths, Magic, and Measures, Corey Rosen, No. 3, 189–195.

Human Resource Information Systems: Helping To Meet Section 89 Requirements, John E. Spirig, No. 1, 9–16.

A "Kinder and Gentler" Approach to Work and Family Concerns?, Peter A. Susser and Elliot Belilos, No. 2, 97–103.

Modifying Retirement Benefits: Problems under ERISA, Terry P. Finnerty, No. 4, 283–287.

The New Wave of Employee Benefits Litigation, Kenneth J. McCulloch, No. 4, 321–329.

A Pension Plan Checklist for Proper Operation of a Qualified Retirement Plan, Muriel N. Feldman, No. 1, 33–42.

Severance Pay Plans: How To Use Them and Why To Have Them, Kenneth J. McCulloch, No. 2, 127–133.

Employment Litigation—Problem Areas

The Attorney-Client Privilege: Using It or Losing It, Martin K. Denis, No. 1, 17–25.

Employers' New Burden of Proof in Discrimination Cases, Ginger C. Reed, No. 2, 111–113.

The New Wave of Employee Benefits Litigation, Kenneth J. McCulloch, No. 4, 321–329.

Strategies for Negotiations and Settlement in Government Investigation, Deborah A. Sudbury, No. 4, 299–303.

The Tax Treatment of Settlement Payments in Employment Discrimination Cases, Michael J. Album and Susan Joffe, No. 2, 105–110.

Employment Relations Programs

At Polaroid, the Technology Readiness Program Provides the Company with Skilled, Literate Workers while Providing Workers with the Means for Advancement, Mary Ann Castronovo Fusco, No. 1, 89–92.

Encouraging Employee Involvement Through Suggestion Systems Can Generate Big Payoffs in Worker Morale—and Dollars Saved, Leslie Stackel, No. 2, 167–169.

A Groundbreaking New Childcare Program for Employees Holds Promise for Improving Good Will and Productivity, Leslie Stackel, No. 4, 355–357.

Stride Rite's Employer-Sponsored Pioneer Program Combining Elder and Child Care May Be One Wave of the Future, Mary Ann Castronovo Fusco, No. 3, 259–261.

HRIS Topics

The HRIS Skills Inventory Provides an Inclusive, Computerized Means for Strategic Human Resources Planning, John E. Spirig, No. 2, 155–159.

Human Resource Information Systems Can Help Employers Plan and Implement Flexible Benefit Programs, John E. Spirig, No. 3, 249–252.

Human Resources Information Systems Can Help Employers Manage the Vast Amounts of Information Needed to Meet EEO and Affirmative Action Requirements, John E. Spirig, No. 4, 347–350.

Key Court Actions

Although a Recent Supreme Court Decision Facilitates Drug Testing of Employees in the Transportation Industry, an NLRB Ruling May Be an Obstacle in Other Sectors, Arthur F. Silbergeld, No. 4, 331–337.

Contrary to Its Past, Expansive Support for Affirmative Action Issues, the 1989 Court Issued Restricted and Refined Employment Discrimination Decisions in Four Major Cases, Michael W. Sculnick, No. 3, 235–242.

Excluding Women from Certain Jobs because of Reproductive or Fetal Hazard Must Be Justified by Objective, Scientific Evidence, Michael W. Sculnick, No. 1, 75–79.

Two Recent Drug-Testing Cases Portend New Limits on Employees' Privacy Expectations in Those Organizations that Deal with the Health and Safety of the Public, Michael W. Sculnick, No. 2, 141–146.

Personnel Policies and Practices

After the Theft: What Do You Do?, Banning K. Lary, No. 2, 121–125.

Auditing Customer Service: Look Inside as Well as Out, Ron Zemke, No. 3, 197–203.

Auditing Employment Practices: Some Guidelines for Employers, Linda D. McGill, No. 1, 51–56.

The Baby Boom Generation: Confronting Reduced Opportunities, Karen Little, No. 1, 57–63.

Business and Public Education: The Crisis Continues, Jane Salodof, No. 2, 135–139.

The Design and Implementation of Employee Opinion Surveys, Richard E. Miller, No. 4, 315–319.

Designing Internal Communications Strategies: A Critical Organizational Need, Linda Gasser, No. 4, 273–281.

Employees' Attitudes—How They Can Affect the Success of a Merger, Lee Colby, No. 1, 65–73.

How To Terminate an Employee, Barbara Berish Brown, No. 1, 27–31.

Laying the Groundwork for Successful Job Transitions, Lee Colby, No. 4, 289–297.

Psychological Assessment Programs: Their Use in Employment Decisions, Marjorie Kress, No. 1, 1–8.

Recruiting Strategies for the 1990's, Virginia M. Lord and Frank P. Louchheim, No. 3, 227–234.

Reductions in Force: A Practical Approach, Gloria M. Portela and Rory K. Zaks, No. 3, 219–225.

Simulated Reality—The Key to More Effective Training, Mike Uretsky, No. 4, 305–314.

Questions—and Answers

Questions—and Answers, Harry N. Turk, No. 1, 93–95; No. 2, 171–174; No. 3, 263–265; No. 4, 359–362.

Washington Scene

In Addition to Prohibiting Discrimination in Employment, the Pending Americans with Disabilities Act Will Prohibit Discrimination Against the Disabled in Transportation, Public Accommodations, and Telecommunications, Peter A. Susser, No. 4, 339–345.

The Final WARNing—Despite Some Uncertainty Regarding the Interpretation of Statutory Provisions, the Department of Labor's WARN Act Regulations Are Now in Effect, James H. Coil, III, No. 2, 147–153.

Growing Concern for Workers' Repetitive Motion Injuries Has Made Their Prevention OSHA's Issue of the Nineties, Peter A. Susser, No. 3, 243–248.

In a Recently Published Notice, the EEOC Has Set Forth Its View of Sexual Harassment After Vinson, Peter A. Susser and David H. Jett, No. 1, 81–87.